

2023 EXHIBITION SCHEDULE

Concerning Landscape

January 20 – February 18, 2023

—Curated by Megan Winkel

Concerning Landscape, curated by Megan Winkel, explores the construct of landscape and its various forms of expression. This dual-location exhibition includes a curated show at DAM featuring conceptual landscapes and presentation of more traditional works at the neighboring Henry Ford Cancer Institute’s Brigitte Harris Cancer Pavilion. The offsite exhibition at the Henry Ford Cancer Institute will showcase a range of local artists, who will be juried in from a call-for-entry. —Curated by Megan Winkel

The Dreamer Warriors

April 28 – May 27, 2023

The Dreamer Warriors brings together first, second, and third generation local immigrant artists that explore identity and constantly challenge the idea of existence outside of “expected stereotyping.” The perception of immigrants, by others and themselves, differs through social conception, cultural judgements, political predispositions, religious expectations, and the trauma that have been caused by stereotypes. All they fight for is to belong, to be respected, and be heard like everyone else. —Curated by Jetsri Bhadviya

Extended Limb

June 16 – July 15, 2023

Extended Limb, curated by Detroit-based trans-media artist Holliday Martindale, delves into symbiotic relationships between art and contemporary technology. The participating artists use technology as an extension of themselves and as a medium. Artificial Intelligence, Virtual Reality, NFTs, machine-aided work and prosthetics will all be included in the discussion. —Curated by Holliday Martindale

In Other Words

September 22 – October 21, 2023

Ordinarily, writing shares ideas by translating them into arrangements of symbols that can be understood by applying the rules of a language. In Other Words transcends the usual ways writing communicates by creating new writing systems, reinterpreting ancient forms of written communication, and using written signs in nonlinguistic ways to express meaning in situations where ordinary languages will not suffice.
